Technology

Italian Wine Robot Gives Grapes the Mechanical Touch

The robot weighs the grapes, squeezes them and measures how much juice it creates. The scientists say that according to the information Genesis gives it, they can learn much about the variety of the grape and the region it comes from.

The tank is able to store up to 200 kilograms of grapes, from which is will make 100 litres of wine for further processing.

Click here to read more

Enosis Meraviglia - Click here to read more